

Decision on Hiring Appraiser Again Delayed

A second meeting of taxing units at Hempstead County Courtroom last night resulted in a third meeting two weeks hence at which time one person representing each unit will vote yes or no to petition Judge U. G. Garrett to hire outside appraising firm to equalize assessments. The meeting will be Thursday, Sept. 19.

Last night's session was a hectic affair which time and again brought sharp words. About the only thing everybody present agreed to was a definite need for equalization of taxes. The only question involved is how.

The meeting was the second called by Judge U. G. Garrett to see if something could be worked out. All Arkansas counties must show assessments of 18 per cent valuation on real property by August 1, 1958 in order to receive its full share of state money. Districts not up to 18 per cent will have aid withheld.

Among those present last night all but one wanted to do something now. Six favored hiring an outside appraisal firm; one believed that would be best but would have to get full approval of his school board; two favored doing it locally and one wanted to wait until the 1958 deadline passed and see what happens.

100 Attend Development Clinic Here

Over 100 persons attended the Bob Grimes Self-Development Clinic held last night at the High School auditorium. Sponsor of the clinic was the Hope B&PW Club.

Mrs. Wilton Garrett, president of the club reported that over 250 tickets had been sold for the event to Hope citizens. "All proceeds received from the ticket sales will go into the Student Loan Fund and other civic projects," she said.

The two-hour clinic is a public service feature of the Southern Equitable Life Insurance Company which provided Bob Grimes' services to the club without charge.

B. N. Holt, Chamber of Commerce Secretary-Manager, served as Master of Ceremonies. Attending the clinic from Little Rock were Lowell Cruse, president of Southern Equitable and Tilman Waters, vice-president and agency director.

Integration Situation Elsewhere

From Our Wire Services
While the situation in Little Rock got closer to violence, elsewhere on the integration battlefront in the South it became more stable today.

At Sturgis, Ky., the high school winds up its first week of integrated classes today with a record of relative calm.

The only sign of opposition to integration yesterday came in the form of an occasional leer from a crowd of about 50 in front of the school.

Eighteen Negroes mingled with the white students without incident. Some of them ate in the school cafeteria at lunchtime.

W. W. Waller Jr., chairman of the Union County Citizens Council, had threatened he hoped to have a delegation of townspeople force Mayor J. B. Holman and the city council to withdraw permission for state police to operate in the city.

But Holman said he had not been contacted.

Faubus' Action Is Deplored

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Ten Presbyterian ministers, meeting yesterday in this home town of Gov. Orval Faubus, said they "deplored" the governor's summoning of the National Guard troops to surround Central High School and prevent integration.

A telegram to Faubus said: "Your recent conduct undermines the integrity of the constitutional process and creates confusion and strife."

The signers included the Rev. Wendell E. Hines of Huntsville and pastors from Rogers, Eureka Springs, Fayetteville, Vaughn, Berryville, Pea Ridge and Springdale.

Soviet Farm Claims Are Unrealistic

By RICHARD P. POWERS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today termed unrealistic a Soviet claim that within a few years Russia will equal or outstrip American per capita production of meat and dairy products.

An article in a declassified publication, Foreign Agriculture, did not say flatly the claim by Soviet Communist party boss Khrushchev would not be achieved. But it detailed reasons why this result is considered unlikely.

In a May 22 speech in Leningrad, Khrushchev said per capita milk production in the United States last year was 750 pounds compared with 71 in Russia.

The department publication said a number of handicaps worked against a rapid increase in Soviet livestock production.

The publication said labor was another problem — that three to five Russian farm workers are required to do the job of one in the United States. Another handicap, the publication said, is the Soviet Union's lack of quality stock.

The article noted that Khrushchev's former associates were skeptical of his targets.

The article said that while figures given by Khrushchev for United States meat-dairy production are approximately correct, those for the Soviet Union appear to be too high for milk and meat and are inconsistent with previous information.

Batista Claims Rebels Licked, Says 50 Dead

HAVANA, Cuba (UP) — Fifty rebels and 13 government soldiers were killed in the short-lived uprising Thursday in the south coast port city of Cienfuegos, a government communique announced today.

In addition, 13 persons were wounded, but the communique did not specify if they were soldiers or rebels.

The government said previously that loyal troops had recaptured the sugar port after a 10-hour flareup of violence in Cuba's slow-motion revolt.

"Order has been reestablished at Cienfuegos," President Fulgencio Batista told newsmen Thursday night. "No detailed reports are yet available, but it is known that both sides have suffered casualties."

The acknowledgment that loyal troops had been killed or wounded — exceedingly rare in Cuban battle reports — was taken as an index of Continued on Page Three

Officer Says Girard Had No Orders to Fire

B KAY TATEISHI
MAEBASHI, Japan (AP) — William S. Girard had no authorization to fire at anyone the day he is accused of fatally shooting a woman metal scavenger, a statement by a commanding officer said today.

The deposition from Lt. Billy Mohon of Comyn, Tex., read in a Japanese court, said Girard and another soldier were ordered to keep everyone away from a machinegun on a firing range near Maebashi.

Asked if he had given orders to keep scrap metal collectors away by firing rifles, Mohon answered: "Definitely not."

Other statements read by the Japanese prosecutor quoted scrap metal collectors as saying they frequently were chased away from firing ranges by American soldiers firing empty cartridge casings.

Elusive Check Artist Caught

CLEVELAND (AP) — For 11 years Indiana State Police Lt. Edwin C. Schroeder sought an elusive check passer called "The Traveler," who cashed an estimated half a million dollars worth of worthless checks in 40 states including Indiana.

Last night Lt. Schroeder confronted Charles R. Speedie, 51, of San Fernando, Calif. Speedie was arrested yesterday afternoon in suburban Middleburgh Heights. He was being sought by police all over the country.

"I'm glad it's over," Schroeder commented. Speedie smiled but did not speak. The policeman carried a portfolio containing 30 pounds of evidence. He had kept a carefully documented account of Speedie's 11-year career, including photostats and facsimiles of the check passer's work.

Moderate Tax Cut in 1958 Is Possible

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Democratic members of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee advanced a cautious hope today for consideration of a "moderate" tax cut next year.

Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said the committee headed by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) would consider the possibility of a tax reduction bill next year, if it feels cutting taxes won't "add to the fires of inflation" and if there is a surplus in the government's operating budget.

Smathers, writing in his weekly newsletter to constituents, said the committee felt at the start of his year that tax reduction might be inflationary and further endanger the economy.

Smathers said the committee presently studying all aspects of government fiscal policy has "not yet arrived at any easy solution to the tax problem. But he said, 'If of us realize that our savings, our salaries, our wealth such as it is, can quickly be destroyed by runaway inflation.'"

Although no promises have been made by Democratic leaders, the House Ways and Means Committee, headed by Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.), will open hearings on a tax cut Jan. 7, the first day of the new congressional session. All tax legislation must originate Continued on Page Three

FBI Told to Receive Faubus' Information

Brownell Keeps President Well Informed

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower got an early start on the golf course today after receiving an "all quiet" report on the school integration controversy in Little Rock, Ark.

The vacationing President got the report on the Little Rock picture from Atty. Gen. Brownell, who telephoned from Washington and talked to James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary.

Hagerty sent word to newsmen here that Brownell told him to advise Eisenhower there was no change in the situation at Little Rock where Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus has used the National Guard to bar Negro students from Central High School.

Eisenhower will interrupt his New England vacation tomorrow to return to Washington for a day of conferences on that matter and on the Communist menace in the Middle East.

The President, who arrived here only Wednesday, plans to return tomorrow night to Newport, where he and Mrs. Eisenhower are guests at the U. S. naval base on Coaster's Harbor Island.

Eisenhower turned up at his temporary office at the base at 7:40 a. m. today. He walked from the nearby vacation White House and told sleepy-eyed newsmen with a grin: "You fellows are having to get up pretty early, aren't you?"

The President spent about an hour at his office, then traveled across Narragansett Bay by Navy cabin cruiser for another round of golf at the Newport Country Club.

He played, as he did yesterday, with Hagerty; the club president, Howard Cushing, and club pro Norman Palmer.

Late yesterday Hagerty said the President had decided to return to Washington tomorrow to: 1. Confer with Atty. Gen. Brownell regarding the tense school integration situation in Little Rock, Ark.

Eisenhower himself hinted, meanwhile, the federal government might be thinking about trying to limit the activities of National Guardsmen posted by Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus at Little Rock's Central High School. The posting has halted racial integration ordered by a U. S. District Court.

2. Meet with Secretary of State Dulles and State Department trouble shooter Loy Henderson for a briefing on a mounting crisis in Syria. Henderson returned this week from the Mideast where he developed "deep concern if Syria should become a victim of international communism."

The State Department reported its concern as the government hinted it may invoke Eisenhower's Middle East policy of economic and military aid to deal with the Syrian crisis. A resolution authorizes such aid to any Mideast country which "threatened by communism" — seeks U. S. help.

Violence Is Strange in Little Rock

By SY RAMSEY

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Violence is practically a stranger to this quiet city of 110,000, where many racial barriers have been broken in the last few years.

White persons and Negroes ride, side-by-side, on buses and trains. Jim Crow signs were taken down with little commotion last summer.

Both races mixed in amusement and recreation last season at performances of the Little Rock Philharmonic Orchestra.

One of the few reminders of separation by state law are drinking fountains in some downtown stores, but they are becoming obsolete.

But the color lines is sharply drawn in schools, in restaurants and on the lower floors of movie theaters.

It is the attempt to erase integration in public schools that has touched off, external in a city that does not even have teen-age gangs worthy of police attention.

Armed National Guardsmen surround the huge 2,800-pupil Central High School, blocking attempts to carry out integration ordered by a federal court.

Gov. Orval Faubus, who mobilized the troops Monday night says he is averting violence. Mayor Woodrow Mann, says the mobilization is a hoax with political implications.

The chasm is deeper than a difference of opinion between two politicians. Little Rock itself is in the center of a state which is broadly divided geographically between western hills and eastern lowlands.

Negroes constitute about 22 per cent of Little Rock's population and possibly a slightly higher average in North Little Rock, a separate city of about 50,000 across the Arkansas River.

Top Teamsters Expect to Be Ousted

B NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some leaders of the Teamsters Union expect their organization to be kicked out of the AFL-CIO on corruption charges.

Thomas L. Kiekey of New York, a Teamsters vice president, said after an AFL-CIO meeting on the charges yesterday that "I think they'll put us out." Several other Teamsters chiefs privately shared that view.

But some highly placed AFL-CIO officials said they were not so sure of a Teamsters ouster. These chiefs held hopes, despite little firm evidence, that the Teamsters will adopt substantial reforms at their Sept. 30 convention in Miami.

They said as things stand now, the federation's Ethical Practices Committee and its Executive Council will convict the Teamsters on charges of being corruptly dominated.

Teamsters leaders told the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee yesterday they intend to submit all corruption charges against the union to their Miami convention. They also said they would propose revising Teamsters rules to give members a greater voice in running the union.

There was nothing specific in the promise, however, and the Teamsters restated a policy, contrary to that of the AFL-CIO, of not punishing any union official for invoking the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions in probes of union corruption, file.

The Teamsters also refused to consider punishing any union official under criminal charges until his last avenue of appeal had been exhausted. Even then, they said, any action would be up to a Teamsters convention.

The charges that the Teamsters are corruptly dominated stem from Senate "Rackets Committee" disclosures in a long running Teamsters- President Dave Beck and James R. Hoffa, now Midwest Continued on Page Three

Governor Wires Ike, Pledging Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP) — All Gen. Brownell today directed the FBI to resolve from Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus any information he cared to present on the reasons for using national guardsmen to block integration of Little Rock's Central High School.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said in a telegram to President Eisenhower today that he has notified the U. S. District Attorney and the FBI that his personal attorney and the Director of the Arkansas State Police "have available to discuss certain evidence upon which I acted to preserve the public peace."

A short statement handed to newsmen by an administrative aide ended with this sentence: "I shall cooperate in upholding the Constitution of Arkansas and the nation."

Clair Carpenter, who distributed the press release, said that he was not authorized to comment. Faubus himself has not been seen by newsmen since his last news conference Wednesday morning here.

His entire statement today was less than 100 words. Presumably Faubus was answering President Eisenhower's request earlier this week that the governor cooperate with federal authorities.

Carpenter exhibited a huge stack of telegrams — he said there were more than 1,000 — representing what he termed "congratulatory messages lauding the governor on his action in calling out National Guard to prevent racial integration at Little Rock's Central High School."

The Little Rock School Board has asked U. S. district court here to suspend an integration decree and a hearing is scheduled on the petition tomorrow.

Faubus' telegram said: "Mr. President: 'Thank you for your telegram in reply to my appeal for your understanding and cooperation in connection with my effort to preserve the public peace and good order in this community. I have notified the United States district attorney and the FBI that my personal counsel, William J. Smith, and the director of the Arkansas State Police, Herman Lindsay, are available to discuss certain evidence upon which I acted to preserve the public peace. I shall cooperate in upholding the Constitution of Arkansas and the nation.'"

Another Test on Federal, State Power

By PHILIP M. CARMEN

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Legal research indicated today that Gov. Orval Faubus' appeal to President Eisenhower may well bring forth a statement which will be decisive in the state-federal strength test in Arkansas.

When 2,000 deputy U.S. marshals were drawn up across the street from the Pennsylvania militia in 1956, President Madison's statement backing up the federal courts carried the day against the militia.

When Georgia defied the U.S. Supreme Court in 1828 and 1830 over control of Cherokee Indian lands, the state courts had their way when President Andrew Jackson took their side, saying, "John Marshall has made his decision, now let him enforce it."

Three cases were included in items gleaned from old law books and records by Prof. Paul H. Sanders of Vanderbilt University Law School in his work as director of the Race Relations Law Reporter.

Noting that there was "a striking parallel" between the Pennsylvania case and the showdown in the making between the Pennsylvania case and the showdown in the making between state troops and a federal judge in Arkansas, Sanders went back for a deeper search on the background of the Pennsylvania case.

It started as a state court prize action on a privateer's capture of a British sloop in 1778, 11 years before the Constitution was drawn up. It dragged on for 31 years tale during the social hour.

Following the luncheon the chairman, Mrs. D. L. McRae Jr., called the meeting to order with prayer. Mrs. Allen Gee gave the Bible study on "The Least of These" and led in prayer. Mrs. W. P. ## Something Has to Give at Little Rock

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Someone has to back down on this "one: President Eisenhower or Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas."

If Faubus gets away with what he's doing — using National Guardsmen to keep Negroes from a school ordered integrated by a federal judge — every Southern governor could feel free to do the same.

This would make a farce of the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation. It would mean as a stalemate between the state courts and the Continental Congress and the state government and the infant federal courts.

Finally U. S. Chief Justice John Marshall waved aside the Pennsylvania Legislature's interposition resolution and ordered a circuit judge to enforce his judgment against the state-appointed stakeholder.

The resulting tableau at the residence of a former state treasurer named Rittenhouse was subsequently tabbed, "the battle of Rittenhouse Square."

The state militia, commanded by Gen. Michael Bright, was thrown around the "red" U. S. Marshal John Smith, surrounded a posse of 2,000 and arrayed it across the street.

Gov. Snyder threw in his hand and withdrew the troops after his appeal to President Madison brought this reply from the man who had helped write both the Constitution and the first interposition regulations:

"The executive is not only unauthorized to prevent the execution of a decree sanctioned by the Supreme Court of the United States, but is expressly enjoined by statute, to carry into effect any such decree."

Gen. Bright and eight other militia officers were indicted, tried by a jury and convicted of resisting the law of the United States and were sentenced to a fine and prison term by Judge Bushrod Washington, the first President's nephew.

The legal principal established, however, Madison pardoned them within a month.

Biggest State Paper Raps Faubus Action

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas newspapers have been slow to react editorially to the grave integration dilemma that has held the nation's attention for the past three days.

Only the state's largest newspaper, the Arkansas Gazette, circulated about 100,000 daily, reacted immediately. In a front-page editorial titled "The Crisis Mr. Faubus Made," it called the crisis "one he must live with and the rest of us must suffer with."

Executive Editor Harry Ashmore, who was on Adlai Stevenson's staff during the last presidential campaign, has long advocated "peaceful compliance" with the Supreme Court decision on integration.

The editorial said the Little Rock

he simply created a national disturbance needlessly.

If Faubus stands firm and the judge wants to bring him to court to face contempt charges, what happens? The governor has stationed National Guardsmen around his mansion, and U. S. marshals could hardly force him to face the judge if he doesn't want to.

If he refused to go, what would happen then? Somewhere along this line Eisenhower — provided he's willing to take a stand and back up the judge — may try to one way or another to persuade Faubus to back down as gracefully as he can.

Eisenhower who has never said he approved the Supreme Court's decision, has nevertheless repeatedly said he would back up the court's ban on segregation if he had to.

It isn't clear what Eisenhower's next step would be if Faubus ignored efforts at persuasion and, if ordered before the judge, refused to go. It's possible he might order the National Guardsmen into federal service to take control of them away from Faubus.

They are under Faubus' control unless the President calls them out for one of three reasons: to repel invasion, quell insurrection or enforce the laws.

The Guardsmen are paid by the federal government for drills and summer training but they are paid by the state government — as they are now — when the governor calls them out to handle a situation within a state.

situation, "is no longer segregation vs. integration. The question now becomes the supremacy of the government of the United States in all matters of law. And clearly, the federal government cannot let this issue remain unresolved no matter what the cost to this community."

In Memphis, Tenn., just across the Mississippi River from Arkansas, the Commercial Appeal, circulation about 200,000 daily, said editorially:

"In broad terms, however, it is obvious that the federal government must proceed in some manner to obtain definition and clarification of the relationship between its powers and those of a state governor. Successful refusal by anyone to obey the orders of a court would lead to confusion that would eventually amount to chaos. On the other hand it is the solemn obligation of a governor to prevent grave disruptions in the life of his state.

"On the whole the clash is between an unrealistic law and the responsibility of a state's chief executive to preserve order.

The Arkansas Democrat at Little Rock, circulation about 85,000, said editorially: "This issue has gone beyond segregation, to a question of law and order. It is a matter for the courts to decide."

the fierceness of the fighting. The trouble started early Thursday, when a band of about 100 rebels overran Cuba's south-coast naval headquarters in centuries-old Jgua Castle, built by early Spanish settlers to defend the port.

The rebels donned naval uniforms and attacked army and police posts in the city. The outnumbered soldiers and policemen were quickly overcome.

Fighter planes and medium bombers spearheaded the government counterattack. By mid-afternoon the rebels out of military positions to hideouts in the city.

Loyal sailors rallied and recaptured the naval headquarters. Soldiers from Havana and Santa Clara shot their way into town to mop up rebel holdouts.

The fighting at Cienfuegos was the heaviest reported so far in the revolt that began in eastern Cuba nine months ago. Past clashes between rebels and loyal troops had involved dozens rather than hundreds of men.

After George Washington was inaugurated President of the United States he went to the theater to see a performance of "The School for Scandal." He insisted on paying for his own tickets.

Jane and Mary Ann Bader, Mary Nell Williams, Charlotte Moore, Sherry Dickinson, Ken Velvin, Betty O'Neal, David Boyd and the honoree.

Favors were peanut patties and bubble gum. Several sent gifts who were unable to attend.

Cary Grant, Deborah Kerr
New Romantic Screen Team

There are as many opinions among America's movie-going public as to what they want to see on the screen as there are differences of political opinion among this same group.

The only time a semblance of unanimity is achieved is when the public takes to its heart a screen couple that turns in a romantic performance that brings the people streaming to the theater and is talked about long after the picture has made its rounds.

Such a situation is anticipated with the casting of Cary Grant and Deborah Kerr opposite each other in Jerry Wald's Production of Leo McCarey's "An Affair to Remember," the Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope, De Luxe color release next at the Senger theater Sunday.

Director-scenarist McCarey predicts that the team of Grant and Kerr will take its place as a "natural" among lovers.

Going back through the years one could begin with the most recent screen duo of Jennifer Jones and William Holden in "Love is a Many-Splendored Thing." Skipping back a few years the John Gilbert-Greta Garbo screen kisses brought the people back again and again, as did the team of Gable and Jean Harlow. Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell were a top romantic team as was the team of William Powell and Myrna Loy for the "Thin Man" series.

If mom and dad don't remember their surely grandma and grandpa will recall the sizzling screen romance of Rudolph Valentino and Vilma Banky. Getting to the more modern era were Tyrone Power and Lorelei Young and still making the celluloid smoke are Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn, whose latest is "Desk Set."

Today's teenage crops drool over the screen romancing of Debbie and Eddie and Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.

It seemed only a matter of time before Cary Grant, who has wooed and won most of the fair ladies of the screen, and Miss Kerr, who only recently played opposite Yul Brynner in "The King and I" and Robert Mitchum in "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison," should get together as screen lovers.

DOROTHY DIX

You Drifted Into Mess!
Now Dive Out of Affair

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been a reader of your column for years, and admire the advice you give mothers. I never thought I'd be in a spot where I'd be asking your counsel, but I am, and would greatly appreciate any help you can give.

For many years I've been in love with the man I have hopes of marrying. He's very discontented with his present marriage (his second) and hopes to terminate it in the near future. We've drifted into an intimate relationship, but society knows on situations like this but the only answer I have is that people who live "right" are either very lucky or have never faced a dilemma like mine. Or perhaps it's a weakness that I'd rather die than live without the one I love.

Long before I met this man he had been closely associated with another woman. That relationship had ended (so I believed) before I met him. However, he has been seeing the lady but claims their association is for business only.

I've tried everything to get him to untangle the mess his life is in, but he always says he'll make things right "when the time comes." He has suggested that we break up, but that's impossible for me to do. This "other woman" is the obstacle between us, more so than his wife. Although he and his wife share the same roof, I know they live apart. I'm not so sure that this is the case with his former can I force a showdown and get him in a position where we can be married?

HEARTSICK

Dear Heartsick: You describe your situation very well when you say, "We drifted into an intimate relationship." There you have the answer to your question about people who live "right." True, perhaps some of them have never faced and resisted temptation, but most people, at one time or another, have met and conquered it. They offer opposition to the wind that would blow them into a dangerous situation. You limply allowed yourself to drift like a ball of fluff. You attached yourself to a man who is completely without decency, consideration and who doesn't even know what H-o-n-o-r spells. He's been unfaithful to at least three women; what makes you think you can weave the magic wand that will keep him cozy at your side? The showdown you must force is with yourself, not with him.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been told that the Danes have a drug to cure alcoholism. If you give me some information about this, you could save a marriage.

Dear S. G.: Apply to your doctor, or Alcoholics Anonymous. These magic drugs that will cure anything from obesity to alcoholism in a few doses are invariably pure fantasy. Don't pin your hopes on these elusive medicines.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a very nice boy friend who is liked by my parents. He's at my house seven days a week, and eats here about five days. My folks are beginning to be annoyed about it, and they want us to cut our dating down to three times a week. Do you think this is fair to us?

ARLENE

Dear Arlene: It sure will be fair on the family food bills. Your boy friend is really overdoing things. Doesn't he like the food at his house? Your parents have been magnificent in not complaining about their star boarder sooner. Be nice kids and consider your families a bit.

Lash Governor

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The moderator of the Presbytery of North Arkansas, Presbyterian Church U.S.A., charged today that Gov. Orval Faubus is making a "mockery of judicial procedure" by forcibly blocking school racial integration.

Robert J. Moser said in a letter to Faubus that the Presbytery of North Arkansas, favored orderly compliance with federal desegregation orders.

He added that it is "my prayer you will reconsider your actions and allow" integration.

Like all Negroes in the state which belongs half to the middle South and half to the Southwest, they vote without hindrance.

Where legal segregation exists, as in schools, Negro facilities generally are inferior to those for white children.

There seems little doubt that most literate Negroes here want integration, though some leaders urge caution and moderation.

It is no less doubtful that the vast majority of white persons resent the steady broadening demands of equality on the part of the Negroes.

Most observers consider a small tax cut of some form is likely if the administration's spending budget can be balanced. However, any prospect that a reduction would cause a real deficit probably would spell defeat for tax relief.

President Eisenhower has said that tax reduction should be considered only after the budget is balanced.

National Guardsmen blocking racial integration to Central High School took six university students from Minneapolis into custody this morning and released them a short time later.

State Police Capt. Alan Templeton said all were ordered released. Other state troopers who escorted the youths from the school quoted the six as saying they would continue their pre-school vacation trip to New Orleans.

One youth, identified as Murray Gallison, about 20, carried a sheath knife four or five inches long. Col. Marion Johnson of the guard said.

The other five were identified as Marion Segal, Robert Milavetz, Mike Goldman, Steven Lange and Harris Levine.

A dozen newsmen tried unsuccessfully to question Gallison as two guardsmen took him rapidly down the street. The reporters head Gallison describe the knife as a "souvenir" and told the guardsmen he was on a "sight-seeing tour."

Gallison, who had a camera slung around his neck, was mistaken for a news photographer for a time.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The future of Little Rock's smoldering integration crisis appeared today to be in the hands of a federal judge as heavily armed National Guardsmen still ringed Central High School.

A momentary lull developed yesterday in the battle over racial mixing. The Little Rock School Board offered the possibility of a temporary solution by asking federal Judge Ronald B. Davies to follow an indefinite legal postponement of integration.

Judge Davies will hear the school board's petition at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Twice within a week he has ordered immediate racial mixing.

Gov. Orval Faubus, who ordered out the troops last Tuesday to keep nine Negro students from entering the high school, yesterday got President Eisenhower's answer to an appeal for intervention in the clash of federal and state authority.

Eisenhower told Faubus that he would use all legal means at his command to uphold the federal Constitution.

The President will interrupt his vacation at Newport, N. J., to return to Washington tomorrow for a conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Faubus has not been seen publicly since he held a news conference Wednesday morning and his aide said last night that the governor's whereabouts were unknown.

SCHOOL DAYS AGAIN

The time has again come for all Teachers and all true Americans to come to the aid of God and Country. School days are here! Young and open minds assemble on playgrounds and in class rooms... men and women are in the making. Dear Teacher, your responsibility is terrifying. You have God to honor and your country to save through your own class room. "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver." (Proverbs 25:11)

Eager and learning minds must be properly directed. In the Book of Books the "Great Teacher" gives direction toward the life of goodness and wisdom. The stories of Joseph, the birth of Jesus and the never-to-be-forgotten parables are rich in lessons of wisdom and morality. Let them reflect on the Proverbs of Solomon, and let them sing the songs of David. The lessons of Isaiah, Jeremiah and Paul, and the Sermon on the Mount offer a moral and spiritual constitution for living. Along with lessons in "reading and writing and arithmetic," they need lessons in how to live God's way... it's School Days Again.

Four Injured in Fighting Flames

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Hospital attendants said today that James Marshall, 26, of Weewoka, Okla., should recover in four to six weeks from severe burns suffered in a fire at a gas well near here.

They said he would be released from the hospital in about 10 days.

Marriott was the most seriously injured of four workers who were bathed in flame as the well caught fire after blowing in.

W. S. LaValley, 41, of Weewoka and E. P. Rigdon, 44, of Marlow, Okla., never were admitted to the hospital here. Dean Hughes, 22, of nearby Lamar, was released Saturday.

clitic, a British weather
seletist, and others.

A strange carpet of turbulent air, only a third of an inch thick, "lying over" the oceans plays a vital but still poorly understood role in the earth's water balance, Dr.
Mosby said. This carpet is full of holes, not uniform. To learn how it forms and exactly what it does are targets during the IGY.

Dr. Suleifne presented estimates of how much water
there is in the air. Dr.
Mosby said evaporation sucks thousands of cubic miles of water into the air from the oceans each year.

An attractive Soviet woman scientist indicated that the United States is ahead of Russia in some phases of work to launch artificial satellites into space.

Dr. Valerija Troitskaya, general secretary of the Soviet committee for IGY, said the Russians have not yet decided on the size or weight of their satellite and haven't built a model. U. S. scientists have their 20-pound satellite ready to go.

These are some of the findings so far from scientists seeking to solve puzzles of the earth's water balance. That means the exchange of water between the seas, air and clouds, the soil, and all that happens in between.

An understanding of the exact mechanisms of water exchange and balance could give very practical results, Dr. H.
Mosby, geographer of Bergen, Norway, today said. The meeting here of the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics.

The knowledge could lead to better methods of forecasting or controlling weather. It could prevent some water-troubled areas from becoming deserts one day.

These are some of the reasons for intensified studies of the oceans and air during the International Geophysical Year.
Scientists of 61 nations are making cooperative researches to understand dozens of natural phenomena.

What has been learned about the water balance and future challenges were described by Dr. Mosby, by Dr. R. D. Sal-
